The SRH Berlin University of Applied Sciences is a private, state-recognized and accredited university with locations in Berlin, Dresden and Hamburg. Six schools combine modern management and entrepreneurship, media and creative industries, technology and IT, music and sound design in modern German and English-language courses. At the SRH universities, students learn in a purposeful and independent manner according to the specially developed study concept CORE (Competence Oriented Research and Education). In compact scientifically and practice-based thematic units the students are qualified for professional life by activating teaching as well as competence-oriented exams. The SRH Hochschule Heidelberg is state recognized and accredited by the German Science Council.

We are part of SRH - a leading provider of education and healthcare services with 16,000 employees. The SRH operates private colleges, education centers, schools and hospitals.

International and exceptionally successful: In the middle of Berlin's dynamic environment, the Berlin School of Management / Technology offers German and English-language Bachelor's, Master's and MBA programs in the future-oriented fields of modern management and entrepreneurship, technology and IT. The school focuses on competence-oriented teaching with a high practical orientation, many projects, the teaching of soft skills, as well as living internationality. Numerous partner universities and renowned business enterprises in Germany and around the world are part of the close-knit network.
